LEADWOOD

The musical program given at the Princess Theatre Friday evening was a great treat. Some splendid talent was displayed. From a financial point it was a success, too. The proceeds go to help defray the expenses of the Girls' Glee Club to the Cape Meet May 7 and 8. There was one regrettable feature of the evening. Four or five would-be young gentlemen created quite a disturbance by their method of cheering the efforts of the performers.

C. B. Acuff visited the Masonic Lodge Saturday evening.

Judge R. C. Tucker is continually on the job. Last Friday he held court in the Superintendent of Schools' office here. A girl had been kept out of school by her parents. They had been called on several times to put her in school. They steadfastly refused. Judge assessed the fine at $10 and cost, which totaled $17.50. You may be sure the fine was paid and the girl entered school Monday. The Judge visited school again Monday and met some other irregular attendants. They made promises of attending regularly.
